

David M. Klein, Ph.D.
IBIS Airlines
Director, EVP & CMO

A veteran, cross-disciplinary executive and consultant to Fortune 500 and emerging growth companies, taking new technologies from drawing board to market. Sat on the board of the University of Florida College of Health to aid technology transfer from the university to external commercialization. Successful career of building startup and emerging growth companies. He helped take his last company from start up to distribution into 7,000 retail locations.