

Ian Herman

IBIS Airlines

CEO

Ian Herman is an accomplished Chief Executive Officer, multi-national operations leader, and start up & turnaround specialist with more than 30 years of success across the aviation, automotive, manufacturing, technology and telecommunications industries.

Ian's distinguished career includes such highlights as: Serving several years as Chairman and Chief Executive Officer for British World Airlines; served as Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Global Aircraft Solutions, a U.S. public company which under Ian's leadership, acquired Renegade Ventures Company, rebranded to provide aircraft maintenance, repair and overhaul services, to rapidly reach profitability status. Mr. Herman also acquired World Jet Company, which encompassed aircraft trading, aircraft part sales, technical consulting, and leasing, with revenues that rapidly grew to $50 million with profits of $5 million; Ian held the prestigious position of Chairman and Board Member for the UK Department of Trade & Industry, London & South East Development Board operating on behalf of the British government, and received recognition from the government and the Queen for his services; Skilled at quickly assessing issues and implementing solutions to reverse downward trends in sales and profitability, Ian leverages strong planning, negotiation, and communication skills to lead his teams to professional success. Ian's areas of expertise include financial analysis, company restructure, essential downsizing, expansion, mergers and acquisitions, and startups. He has a proven track record of accomplishment in attracting investor interest and venture capital.

Ian's diverse experience, business savvy and charismatic personality make him uniquely qualified to serve as IBIS's Chief Executive Officer